

The details were sorted out and the film crew was soon at Bob's house in Countesthorpe, Leicestershire. He told us, "The film crew took over the house and street for the day, with neighbours turning up to see what was happening. The film crew were a real friendly bunch." However, it was obvious the Salvage Squad crew had a real task ahead of them. The vehicle was a wreck.

He didn't hear much after the film crew departed with the Snow Trac, but he knew restoration would be underway and his ambition to drive it to the top of a snow-capped mountain for a refreshing cup of tea at the summit could well be in sight.

Behind the scenes, Salvage Squad had enlisted the help of

www.forumsforums.com/snowtrac.html

